PLANS BEING WORKED OUT FOR OPERATION SOON OF NEW MINE

Warner-Leonard Company Propose to open up Their Tract Near Charleroi

TO USE MAXWELL ENTRANCE

Only Coal For Domestic Uses, However, to be Mined From it—Request For Railroad Crossings Before Public Service Commission

Plans are gradually being worked out for the opening up of the Warner-Leonard coal tract located chiefly at what is known as the Melenyzer place on the road between Charleroi and Bentleyville. First operation however will probably be at the old Maxwell mine across Maple Creek from Lincoln avenue extension, this coal to be mined for domestic uses.

The Warner-Leonard people now have before the Public Service Commission a request for right to cross the street and street railway track at Maple creek, for the purpose of building a branch line railroad to their mine. That the decision by the Public Service Commission will be followed by immediate activity is the opinion of those in close touch.

Most of the coal of the Warner-Leonard Company was purchased more than a year ago. What is known as the Rider coal and surface, totaling 169 acres, was purchased at $1,100 an acre. The remainder of the coal in the tract, known as the Schwab and Maxwell acreage, was bought at a price of $950 per acre. In the Schwab tract there is approximately 105 acres and in the Maxwell track about 30 acres, making for the all 264 acres.

Probably the first of the year will witness the actual opening. Slope mining will have to be followed. All coal will be shipped by rail. The capacity will run to or surpass 2,000 bushels per day, according to the present intentions of the company and this will mean employment will be given to about 500 men. The coal is of the Pittsburg vein and of the finest grade. It will not be used for coking purposes but will be merchandised chiefly in the east.

The Warner-Leonard Company has head offices in Cleveland, the company consisting of W. H. Warner and sons and John E. Leonard. The last named is in active charge of the mining operations along the Monongahela valley that are carried on by the company. One of the company's mines is the Warner-Yough mine near Fayette City and the other the Warner-Leonard mine at West Brownsville, which will be worked out within the next few months.

RAILROADS COMPELLED TO GIVE ALICIA MINE SAME CONSIDERATION

Railroads Compelled to Give Alicia Mine Same Consideration as Bridgeport

CONDITIONS ARE EXPLAINED

The long drown-out contest between the Pennsylvania and other railroads on the one and W. Harry Brown coal operator of Pittsburg on the other over transportation rates from the Alicia mine of the latter to Lake Erie ports and other points to the West, has ended with the defeat of the carriers. The Inter-State Commerce Commission has determined that discrimination exists, and the railroads have been ordered to remove it.

Mr. Brown alleged undue discrimination in the rates on coal in carloads from the Alicia mine, located near Brownsville, on the Monongahela Railway in favor of the Bridgeport mine of the H. C. Frick Coke company, nearby, showing that the output of both moves northward via the Monongahela Railway to Brownsville Junction, its northern terminus, where it is delivered to the Pittsburg & Lake Erie or Pennsylvania for transportation to Pittsburg or beyond. The Pennsylvania Railroad operates along the west bank of the river and at West Brownsville Junction its Redstone branch crosses the stream to a connection with the Monongahela Railway and the Pittsburg & Lake Erie. The tipple of the Bridgeport mine, where cars are loaded by the Frick company is a little more than two miles south of Brownsville Junc-

COMPLETE PLANS FOR REPUBLICAN MEETING

Preparations are being completed for the big Republican rally which will be the climax of a week's whirlwind campaign tomorrow night in Charleroi. Committees in charge anticipate a large attendance when the Coyle theatre meeting at 8 o'clock in the evening is called to order, with Congresman Henry W. Temple and E. E. Merrill as chief speakers. Local people are hopeful that State Chairman W. E. Crow and former governor John K. Tener will be able to come. The campaign party is expected to arrive at about 5 o'clock and a preliminary reception will be a feature. Band concerts on the street and at the theatre will announce the beginning of the meeting.

BOY KILLED WHEN HE FALLS UNDER TRUCK

Theodore Brady, aged 4, the son of Herman Brady of Monongahela, received injuries which caused his death a few hours after when he fell under a heavy coal truck at Main and Tenth streets, Monongahela this morning. The boy was about to cross the street when the truck came along. He watched closely until the truck had about passed. Then he started into the street. Something tripped him and under one of the rear wheels he plunged. His left leg was crushed from the hip down. He was hurried to the Monongahela Memorial hospital where he died.

Large crowds are expected from Bentleyville, Ellsworth and Cokeburg next Tuesday evening to attend Charleroi's Hallowe'en celebration. The parade in which mummers will take part will start at Second street and traverse McKean and Fallowfield avenues. Chief of Police C. W. Albright will be the chief marshal. The firemen have been asked to appear in dress uniform and probably will head the parade. Prizes will be given to the best and most comic dressed persons.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE LICENSE IS REFUSED

Court Hands Down Important Ruling That Concerns Entire Washington County—Public Officers Sufficient Opines Judge McIlvanie

In the matter of the application of Joseph Wargo for a private detective's license, the court has handed down an opinion refusing to grant the license. The court reiterates the position that it has taken heretofore as not favoring private detective agencies. In the opinion, written by Judge McIlvaine, the court says that it is the opinion of both judges that there is no need for private detective agencies in this county and that it will only be in exceptional cases, where the necessity is clearly made to appear that they will hereafter be licensed.

The applicant, Joseph Wargo, is a resident of Washington. The court sets forth in its opinion that the application appears to be in regular form and is numeriusly signed, many of the signers being prominent and reputable citizens of Washington.

Commenting, however, the court says:

"We have many public officers in this county whose duty it is to do the work that would be done by a private detective agency, and it is unfair to them that a man who is not an officer of the public should be put in the besition to do the work that properly belongs to them."

CHURCH WEDDING IS BRILLIANT FUNCTION

Gehring-Mitchell Nuptials Performed By Dr. W. G. Mead in Presence of Large Assemblage—Leave on Honeymoon Trip to East.

Prettily appointed in all particulars was the wedding of Miss Ada Lillian Mitchell and George Ferdinand Gehring at the First Methodist Episcopal church Tuesday evening at 6:45 o'clock. The vows were taken by the couple in the presence of a large assemblage of friends, with Dr. W. G. Mead, formerly of this pastorate and now of the James street church, Wilkinsburg, as the officiating clergyman. A reception followed at the home of the bride's mother and the couple steamed away late in the evening on their three week's wedding tour that will take them to numerous points, including Harrisburg, Washington, D. C., Old Point Comfort, Norfolk, Philadelphia, Atlantic City, New York, Albany, Williamstown and Boston.

Announced by the soft strains of the Lohengrin wedding march the bridal party entered from doors at the rear of the church, as the groom attended by his best man came from the choir room to the right. Preceded by her maid of honor, bridesmaids and the tiny tot of a ring bearer the bride entered on the arm of her brother, Harry E. Mitchell of Dunbar. She was charmingly gowned in white duchess satin, with trimming of crystal banding and georgette crepe. Her veil was caught by lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. Her boquet was white sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley. Her ornaments were

HUGHES A CERTAINTY

Republican party workers from every section of the United States are now in agreement and are confident that Charles Evans Hughes, Republican candidate for President, will be elected by an overwhelming majority at the election on November 7.

Gov. Hughes has completed his second tour of the middle western states and he will devote the remaining days of the campaign to the eastern end of the country.

After a conference following his return to New York, Charles W. Farnham, campaign tour manager for Mr. Hughes, issued a detailed report to the Republican national committee, covering the political conditions in every state visited by Mr. Hughes with the result that the Republican certain that Mr. Hughes will have more than 300 of the 531 electoral votes with 50 votes highly probable for Mr. Hughes and 55 votes possible to get for him. The states counted for Mr. Hughes and with most of them actually conceded to him are Ohio, Pennsylvania, Oregon, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, Rhode Island, Vermont, Illinois, Maine, Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota, California, Kansas, North Dakota, Utah, Idaho, South Dakota, Washington Colorado, Oklahoma, Missouri, and Delaware.

These states have 300 electoral votes. The states accepted as being probable for Mr. Hughes are New Jersey, Nevada, Montana, Arizona, Connecticut, Nebraska, New Mexico, West Virginia, having a total of 50 votes and the states accepted as being possible for the Republican candidate are Maryland, Kentucky, Colorado, Oklahoma, Missouri, with a total of 55 electoral votes.

United States Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, was present with the other members of the Republican national committee when this report was received and he announced that the election of Mr. Hughes is now a foregone conclusion.

The wabbling Wilson policies have disgusted the voters. They want and are certain to get, better conditions in this country.

CARE NECESSARY

Society cannot tolerate such criminality as that to which confession was made at Monongahela by at least one young scapegrace who has worked his way into the toils of the law.

Robberies by an organized band are described. Secret signals, by-laws and all the accompaniments of a complete and thoroughly workable organization aresaid to have been employed in plotting the evil which found inspiration probably in early conceptions of daring described only in literature of the yellowest sort. Misled they are now up against it, supposed enemies of society, and certainly nursing an ill-considered grudge.

If there was only some means of bringing to the consideration of these youths a conception of life not warped—of making them think, really think, as they never have thought before of the problems of life—they would then comprehend by that instinctive sense of right and wrong with which all mentally capable beings are endowed, their proper places and see the promise held out to them. But the problem is big that corrective institutions must work out, that of making men and more especially the young men, seriously think, without exploding.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

CITY DEBTS

Not only does the cost of government in cities having thirty thousand or more inhabitants now exceed the cost of the Federal Government, but the net indebtedness of such cities is now, at least two and a half times that of the Federal Government. There are two hundred and four such cities at present. The Census Bureau has comparable reports for a hundred and forty-six of them.

In 1905 the indebtedness of these cities was almost exactly the same as that of the nation—a little under a billion dollars. In 1915 it was two and a quarter billion dollars. Population of the cities in that period increased thirty-eight per cent while debts increased a hundred and forty per cent, now standing at seventy-four dollars [illegible]

[illegible] a great part of this [illegible] improvements [illegible] investment. [illegible] there is [illegible] waste. [illegible] with [illegible] the American city [illegible] the most [illegible] generally [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] In many cases citizens must base the expenditure of their money mostly on faith. They have not the means of knowing whether it was economically expended or not.

In view of the size of the expenditure it is worth while to have the means of knowing—Saturday Evening Post.

THE TOOTH BRUSH.

A recent investigation made by the United States Public Health Service in connection with studies of rural school children showed that 49.3 per cent had defective teeth. 21.6 per cent had two or more missing teeth, and only 16.9 per cent had had dental attention. Over 14 per cent never used a tooth brush, 58.2 per cent used one occasionally and only 27.4 per cent used one daily.

Defective teeth reduce physical efficiency. Dirty, suppurating snaggle-toothed mouths are responsible for many cases of heart disease, rheumatism and other chronic affections. The children are not responsible for the neglected state of their teeth. The ignorant and careless parent is to blame for this condition—a condition which hampers mental and physical growth and puts a permanent handicap on our future citizens.

School teachers can and are doing much in inculcating habits of personal cleanliness on the rural school child but this will fail of the highest accomplishment unless parents co-operate heartily and continuously. This is a duty which we owe our children.—United States Health Service.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

They tackled father just after he had figured up his bank balance on being stung for the usual contributions to the family's time-honored Christmas fund.

"Pop," they asked him, "what is your birthstone?"

"The grindstone, children; the grindstone," he instantly replied. "And my nose has been to it all my life!"

It all originated at a small grocery store where they sold everything from sand to a pearl necklace. A farmer had gone for some liniment to rub on his cow's bad leg. The bungling grocer gave the old farmer, however a bottle of cologne instead of liniment. The day following the farmer came back in a great rage.

"Look here," he said, "I wish you'd be more careful how you chuck things over that counter. You gave me perfume yesterday instead of liniment an' I put it on the blessed cow 'fore I knowed."

"I hope it hasn't done her any harm," said the grocer, in a mollifying tone.

"Harm be hanged;" snaped the farmer. "That 'ere cow won't eat now, nor allow herself to be milked. The only thing she does is to sigh the whole day long and go and look at her reflection in the pond."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Worth Careful Thought

Do you read the label to know whether your baking powder is made from cream of tartar or, on the other hand, from alum or phosphate?

Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes, and adds to the food only wholesome qualities.

Other baking powders contain alum or phosphate, both of mineral origin, and used as substitutes for cream of tartar because of their cheapness.

Never sacrifice quality and healthfulness for low price.

HE LOST HIS FRECKLES.

James Whitcomb Riley's Tale of How the Trick Was Turned.

As a youth James Whitcomb Riley was burdened with freckles. Always sensitive regarding anything reflecting upon him personally, he grieved over what he considered an insurmountable misfortune. He told of his effort at emancipation:

"One day I saw in a drug store window what was said to be a sure cure for moth, tan, freckles, etc. I pondered possession of a bottle, but—50 cents! Of course I could never buy it. Why, I didn't get 50 pennies in a whole year."

But he managed to finance himself by manipulation of the market money when doing errands for his parents and he bought a bottle of the magic stuff. He ran with it to the barnyard and rubbed it all over his face, then raced off to school to make up the time he had lost.

"When I stepped inside the door all the school stared to laugh at me," he says. "The teacher asked me what I meant by coming to school in such a condition. Bewildered and ignorant of what it all meant, I followed her out the door. She showed me my face in a mirror, and it was like a yellow Easter egg. The directions had said to rub it off immediately with soft water and a piece of an egg. All of which I had missed. To get the stain off my face I had to be rubbed until the skin fell off. But when it was all over the freckles were actually gone and never came back."

The World's Greatest Judge.

If greatness consists of great ability linked with great opportunity, then we must pass unchallenged the declaration that Marshall is the greatest judge in the language, states Hugh H. Brown in Case and Comment. No English judge ever had the opportunity of a new field except Hardwicke in equity, Mansfield in commercial law and possibly Stowell in admiralty. The world never had known a science of a written constitution of government until it came in Marshall's time.

Standing before his portrait in company with a distinguished foreigner an American lawyer said, "We consider him the greatest judge of our country." A British justice replied, "You might well say the greatest judge of any country."

Another Englishman, James Bryce, said in substance that the higher qualities of Marshall's decisions never had been surpassed and but rarely equaled by the most famous jurists of modern Europe or of ancient Rome.

Funny Errors In Advertisements.

Laughable errors in illustrated advertisements are often apparent to the thinking man. It makes one wonder why the designers of the ads. don't get their information first hand from some one who really knows. Accuracy, even in advertisements has the same attraction it has anywhere else.

For instance, when the seltzer bottle in an electrical sign on Broadway is filling the empty glass the level descends as fast in the bottle as it rises in the glass, yet the bottle is five times as big. It couldn't possibly be, according to physics.

Still worse is a picture of a piano with a pair of hands striking certain keys. Fortunate it is indeed that that piano can't sound, for the particular keys struck would be a jangling discord. Why couldn't the artist have gone to a musician for a pleasing chord among the infinite offerings of music?—Wall Street Journal.

Odd Numbers.

A hen is always given an odd number of eggs to be hatched. Why? There is no reason at all except superstition.

Salutes from warships, forts, etc., are always given in odd numbers, yet no valid reason can be adduced. It is a remnant of the old "odd numbers are lucky" superstition.

Vergil records all sorts of charms and spells practiced round odd numbers—never even ones. Seven is the favorite Biblical number, and old divines taught that it held a mystical perfection. It is an odd number.

Falstaff, in the "Merry Wives," is entrapped for the third time. He himself said, "They say there is a divinity in odd numbers," because of the old belief in odd numbers.

Physicians of other days always insisted that "bleedings" should be in odd numbers—one, three, five, etc., and never an even one.—London Mail.

The "Ear of Dionysius."

A cunningly constructed prison cavern, consisting of a large chamber connected with one of smaller dimensions situated near Syracuse, Italy, has gone into legendary history with the title of the "Ear of Dionysius."

The smaller chamber was unknown to the prisoners kept in this underground dungeon, and the tyrant by whose name it is known had a habit of secreting himself there to listen to the conversation of the convicts, who were mostly political offenders.

An ingenious device constructed at the smaller end of the larger chamber transmitted the sounds through the partition, thus enabling the suspicious ruler to hear even the whispered conversations of his "suspects."

Scotsmen Are French Citizens.

Every Scotsman is a French citizen, with all the rights and privileges of such, if he chooses to claim them. In other words, every Scotsman born in Scotland is also a Frenchman and is thus possessed of two nationalities, surely a unique position.

After his coronation at Rheims in 1429 Charles VII. promulgated a decree that, in return for the assistance rendered by the Scottish soldiers to Joan of Arc, who defeated the English and made his coronation possible, Scotsmen were for all time to be considered free citizens of France.—London Answers.

Business Instinct.

Mary's mother found her busily engaged in cutting up potatoes. "Why Mary," said the astonished mother "what are you doing that for?"

Pausing a moment in her task, Mary looked up and replied, "I heard the man over at the store say that there was money in potatoes this year, mamma, and I was just looking for some."—New York Times.

Steep Farming.

A slope in the valley of the Ollantaytambo, Peru, with an angle of about 45 degrees, or steeper than the roofs of most houses, is covered with transverse ridges, showing that the entire surface was cultivated in former times. Parts of the same slope are still cultivated.—National Geographic Magazine.

Makings of an Artist.

He who works with his hands only is a mechanic; he who works with hand and head is an artisan, and he who works with hands, head and heart is an artist.—Ruskin.

Unreasonable Woman.

Mrs. Pickleton (with newspaper)—Here's a writer who figures out that in fifty years we undress for bed over 18,000 times. Pickleton—And yet you kick if I break the monotony once in awhile by going to bed with my clothes on.—Boston Transcript.

Different Proposition.

"Ajax defied the lightning."

"Yes. That was before they had electricity tamed and harnessed in wires. If Ajax were around today he wouldn't have the nerve to talk back to a telephone exchange."—Washington Star.

The envious will die, but envy never.—Moliere.

The Aristocratic Daughter.

Little Daughter (embarrassed)—Papa, my schoolmates were all going by while you were standing on the balcony shining your shoes. May I tell them at school tomorrow that you were only the servant?—Fliegende Blaetter.

Rightly Named.

Customer—Confound it, waiter! Here is a big chip of wood in this pudding! Easy Going Waiter—Well, that's all right, sir. You ordered cabinet pudding.
